"CACDA Distributes 'Farm Book'"

Cazenovia, NY – Cazenovia Area Community Development Association (CACDA) is currently distributing copies of the recent publication, “Local Farms – Resources Worth Protecting”. The booklet provides interesting information about the role agriculture plays in our local economy and the benefits of supporting local farms.

This publication was produced by CACDA in cooperation with the American Farmland Trust. Other contributors were Madison County Cooperative Extension, Planning Department, Agricultural Economic Development, and Ag & Farmland Protection Board, as well as many area farmers and ag business owners. Local technical assistance was provided by Johnson Communications and Camp Design. Funding for the publication was provided by the Central New York Community Foundation and Northeast SARE.

Copies of the 'Farm Book' are available at many area locations, including Cazenovia and New Woodstock Public Libraries, Cazenovia College Library, Troyer's Country Store, municipal offices and other locations. When you pick up a booklet, please remember to return the green survey card located in the rear pocket. Contact assistant@cacda.net or call 655-7532 to receive a copy by mail.

CACDA enhances economic vitality and preserves the rural, historic character of our region through education, consensus-building and project implementation.

Individuals and corporations can support CACDA's programs through contributions and volunteer efforts. For more information, please call Barbara Henderson, Executive Director, at 655-7651 or e-mail director@cacda.net.
